

A bride and groom are standing on a balcony, likely on a cruise ship, as evidenced by the railing and background architecture. The bride is wearing a white lace wedding dress and a veil, holding a large bouquet of white flowers and greenery. The groom is wearing a light-colored suit and has a beard. They are both smiling and looking at each other. The background shows a modern building with large windows and greenery.

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

Can the Captain perform our ceremony, and will it be legal?

The Captain can perform your ceremony once the ship is in international waters. Your marriage will be legally recognized in The Bahamas. Check with your local governmental authorities to see if they will also recognize your marriage.

How do I get a marriage license for a wedding at sea?

The Bahamian maritime marriage license process is complex and requires at least 90 days for processing. Royal Weddings will assist you with obtaining your license to ensure all legal requirements in The Bahamas are met. Additional licensing fees apply. It may take approximately 16-18 weeks upon returning from your cruise to receive your marriage certificate.

Can I get married any day or night of the sailing?

There are certain limitations as to when your wedding can take place. Royal Weddings will make every effort to accommodate your preferred date, but it is subject to the venue and officiant availability.

How far in advance do I have to book my wedding at sea?

All weddings at sea must be booked at least 90 days prior to sailing, but we strongly encourage you to book as far in advance as possible.

May I bring guests to my wedding? If so, is there a limit?

For shipboard ceremonies, the maximum will depend on the capacity of the venue. For shoreside ceremonies, you may add guests, but capacity may be limited, depending on the location. Additional transportation, entrance and site fees will apply. Contact your Royal Wedding Event Specialist for specifics.

When getting married on the first day of the sailing, why do I have to be at the port early?

For weddings held on the first day of the cruise, we allow wedding parties priority boarding. Because of this, we require that members of wedding parties arrive at the pier at a specified time to avoid congestion. Note that boarding times may vary by port.

What happens if it rains on my destination wedding day?

If the weather is unsuitable for an outdoor ceremony, alternate arrangements will be made at the discretion of the ship's onboard coordinator.

Is there an additional fee for Saturdays, Sundays or holidays?

Additional fees will apply on some holidays. Contact your Royal Wedding Event Specialist for complete details.

Will my Royal Weddings arrange our marriage license?

For Bahamian marriage licenses your Royal Weddings Event Specialist will coordinate the application process. For licenses other than the Bahamas it is the responsibility of the couple to obtain.

What sets apart a Royal Weddings Sales Coordinator, Royal Weddings Event Specialist and Onboard Wedding Coordinator?

The Royal Weddings Sales Coordinator is the first person you'll talk to when you call Royal Weddings.. The Royal Weddings Sales Coordinator will assist you in selecting a Royal Wedding Package. From there, your personal Royal Weddings Event Specialist will assist you in completing your contract and design all the details for your special event. Once onboard, your Onboard Wedding Coordinator will execute all the details of your event in accordance with your contract. For needs beyond your event, please contact Guest Services once onboard for additional assistance.

What if a member of the wedding party or a guest has special needs?

Wheelchair, restroom and changing room accessibility vary by ship and by port. Contact your shoreside specialist for location specifications.

Who performs the ceremony?

In the United States, a Notary Public or a non-denominational officiant will preside. In non-U.S. ports, a non-denominational officiant will preside. Legal ceremonies at sea are performed by the Captain or Staff Captain. Symbolic ceremonies at sea are performed by a non-denominational officiant. Religious ceremonies are not available.

What about same-sex ceremonies?

Same-sex legal weddings are currently offered ashore, in U.S. ports and in ports abroad, where legally permissible. Legal same-sex weddings cannot be performed at sea, as Royal Caribbean® ships are registered in The Bahamas. However, symbolic same-sex ceremonies can be performed at sea or at select ports of call.

Is music provided at the ceremony?

Portable music systems are available for your shipboard ceremony. Traditional wedding prerecorded music is provided, or you may request your preferred music. Music is not provided for weddings held shoreside but can be arranged at limited locations.

May I bring my own decorations for my wedding?

Wedding decorations brought onboard are subject to approval. Contact your shoreside event specialist for more information.

How do we pay for our wedding?

The Wedding Package you select will be applied to your booked Cruise Reservation. Payment for the package and add-ons will follow the payment schedule of the cruise reservation. The payment schedule for groups may be different from that of individuals. You will usually have access to your cruise documents 30 days prior to your sailing as long as your reservation is finalized. This payment schedule also applies to all holiday sailings, defined as sailings that occur on or between Christmas and/or New Year's day.

Are all packages available on all sailings?

All packages, except Love Sets Sail, are available on select ships. Love Sets Sail is only available on ships sailing from US ports.
